GLOVES OF PIGSKIN

Who was it said that you can take the boy out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the boy? You can take style out of gloves, but you can't take gloves out of style. Long before "Stern Rutherford, right little said, but bit his glove and shook his head," in Scott's "Lady of The Last Minstrel," gloves have been the mark of the man who is fastidious about the big, little-trifles of his personal appearance. The trouble with many men is that they seem to fancy that gloves, like an insurance policy, should last a lifetime. No belonging of men's dress needs more regular replacement, for gloves seldom wear out; they soil, discolor and acquire sand-paper fingertips due to the scuffing of the leather. If the gentleman fastened with a button. The new scholarships should The new scholarships should.

Years ago, the glove of the gentleman fastened with a button. Clasps were regarded as only fit for workingmen's gloves or those for rough usage. Gradually, the clasp or snap fastener was extended, on account of its convenience, to most gloves, except those meant for strictly formal wear. Then came the pull-on glove with the so-called sack wrist. This has neither button nor clasp, but it is simply drawn over the hand and allowed to crease naturally at the wrist. The buttonless glove is the most practical of all the various types and it has, moreover, a soft smartness that compends it to the best-dressed men. nends it to the best-dressed men.

Gorrect Glothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Harness-sewn gloves of pigskin or those finished to look like cenuine pigskin have acquired a noticeable vogue of late. Originally ntroduced for sports and country, they are now also quite generally worn in town and to business. Such gloves are pale yellow or emon-colored in shade and pebbled or mottled in grain. They have a sturdy, sportsmanlike look about them which is most engaging. Besides, they contrast very well with dark-colored overcoats and may be more readily cleaned than conventional capeskin or back-

Guest Group Gathers To Surprise Hosts At House-Warming

Wednesday night was made a happy evening for Mr. and Mrs. J. B Smith and their daughter, Miss Vera Mae Smith when they were surprised by their friendly associates of the two Gerrard stores of the city, in the home at 916 West Fourth street of which they so recently took possession.

The affair was made a heartwarming as well as a house-warming by the combined efforts of hosis and guests and all joined in the lively program of games which took up tho evening hours. At the refreshment hour, dainties provided by the thoughtful guests, were served and included a very special cake as delicious as it was good to look upon, and which was furnished by the bakery department of the stores.

Mearrice Enderle (Harriet Owens Enderle.)

The plans for the play had been carefully worked out down to the least detail, and stage settings and costumes were extremely beautiful. Two acts of the little drama were supposed to be within the one of Mrs. Ling and the Chin ese interior was particularly effective with its red and gold altar, its authentic idols and spirit paper and the heavy odor of incense per vading everything.

The costumes of Mrs. Ling (Mrs R. E. Ruddy) and her daughter-in law, "Golden Lily" played by Mrs Lloyd E. Roach, were richly beau tiful and were loaned by Mrs. G. P. Women Drivers Think Quicker In Brake Test

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—A college woman thinks faster than a college man while driving an automobile, but a taxicab chauffeur thinks fastest of all. This was indicated from series of tests described here by Dr. E. A. Moss before the annualconvention of the National Civil Service Reform league. He told of a civil service examination for chauffeurs. College students and professional taxicab operators were used. Two revolvers were mounted on the underside of the running board of an automobile. One was fired by an examiner pulling a wire and the other was fired automatically by the application of the brakes by the driver. The test was to determine how quickly the drivers' brains got in motion, to stop the car after hearing the first shot.

The average time of all was around a half second. It took .590 of a second for a college man's brains to telegraph to his foot resting on the brake pedal, but it only took .559 of a second for a college woman's. It took only .413 of a second for the taxi

Science has perfected a remarkable method of treating hair and scalp troubles. The principle is new. Scientifically correct. Leading dermatologists agree on this point. Now we offer this treatment to you under absolute guarantee of results or money back.

Hair Troubles Due to Four Causes

Hair grows from a bulb—not from a root. Hair bulbs often get lazy—inactive. Dull, scanty hair results from inactive hair bulbs. So does falling hair, baldness and most other hair troubles. Now it is known that 90% of all hair bulb inactivity is due to one or more of four causes. Remove the causes—wake up the sluggish, inactive hair bulbs and thick, luxuriant hair results.

Causes Now Treated

This new method treats the causes of inactive hair bulbs and revives them. Hence its remarkable success. It stimulates circulation of blood in the scalp providing proper nourishment for the hair bedsnew life and vigor to the hair bulbs. It regulates the oil glands to function properly—lubricating and preserving the hair. It penetrates deep into the hair shaft—destroying harmful bacteria. It removes dandruff, dead tissue and caked sebum that clog the mouth of the hair follicles. It allows sickly hair to get healthy—new hair to grow.

At once you begin to feel the beneficial effect of this amazing treatment. Your whole scalp seems to tingle with new life and vigor. You can almost feel hair bulbs revive. Falling hair ceases as if by magic Dandruff destroyed with a treatment or two. The hair grows thicker and heavier—takes on a new radiance and lustre that will surprise and delight you. Soon new shoots usually start to grow.

Improvement Begins at Once

Assurances that there is no reaon for hysteria in Santa Ana or Orange county over imagined dangers from carbon monoxide gas poisoning are voiced by Jack Hayden, district manager in Santa Ana for the Southern California Gas company.

Speaking before the students at the Santa Ana Polytechnic high school yesterday, he brought out that possibilities of death in the county from escaping fumes of the gas were practically baseless for the reason that the natural gas sold in this district contains none of the deadly carbon monoxide. "All the cases of deaths have been reported from Los Angeles and other sections where artificial gas is distributed," Hayden said, pointing out the relative security of this county.

"In all the cases, investigation of deaths brought out that the subjects were shut up in a room without ventilation," he said. "Normally the body requires about 30 cubic feet of air each minute. In a room of 1000 cubic feet of air space it would take just 59 minutes for one here were no ventilation. Of still greater importance is ventilation when there is a gas ourner using the oxygen. It is esimated that for every person in the room the air should be changed 18 times during each hour.

erson to reduce the oxygen if

To allow escape of gas in a room is not necessary for the flame go out, Hayden said. "Some of e gas passes into the air before has had time to ignite in the

"There is one instance where the natural gas is dangerous. In heating water tanks, a reaction takes place when the gas flames strikes the moisture on the copper coils with the result that the deadly carbon monoxide gas is set free. Adequate ventilation by open doors and windows is the best means of protection."

The speaker went on to explain the differences in gases. "The gas we use in Orange county is obtained from underground wells and is essentially a marsh gas. The artificial gas is extracted from coal, peat, and other similar materials. Its high heat unit is due to the carbon monoxide it contains.

Disapproves Views While disapproving in a general vay of the radical views expressed by the Brooklyn minister ,Rev. W.
L. H. Benton, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, declared that he was not in position o make a definite statement without having first made a study of the article in question. He intimated, however, that to the com-municants of the Episcopal church, marriage is a sacrament and something more than a civil contract. He deplored the general tendency to cheapen marriage and deprive it of the dignity it must have to form the mainstay of society. This so called "new freedom" where the flapper rules the jazz kingdom and flaming youth burns up traditions, conventions, breeding and respect for law and institutions in its wild fling, is in a large measure responsible for the breaking down of morals and social agencies, according to Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church. And this state of affairs is in turn responsible for the great number of unsuccessful marriages. Parents at Fault

"There is nothing wrong with marriage—the fault lies with present-day metohds of bringing and educating our sons and daughters," he said. "And in some cases the fault lies with the fathers and the mothers, who instead of furnishing a proper example, are setting the pace for the younger members of the family.

"Pure bunk," remarked Rev. Otto S. Rusesll, pastor of the First Bap-tist church, after he had fininshed reading the press dispatch. "What we need is more serious thought to the responsibilities and obligations of marriage and that our young people be educated to that end.

"I have no use for ideas of this kind," said Dr. Will A. Betts, pastor of the First Methodist church. What would become of our civilization, of our government, of our institutions, if we removed the very foundation upon which organized society is built? Instead of find-ing excuses for letting down the tars and turn America into another Russia, let us find reasons to strengthen and dignify marriage, to protect womanhood, and to promote and safeguard the true interests of the America the rest. interests of the American home.

Reflecting the views set forth in the foregoing statements were the declarations of other ministers. They expressed the belief that the statements of the Brooklyn minister had been made made in the statements. ter had been made more for the purpose of getting into print than to bring about needed reforms in social and economic conditions attending marriage.

Christian Science: The Science of Christian Healing

to him are, first, Why does Christian Science place such importance on the healing of the sick? and, secondly, How does Christian Science propose to heal physical disease by spiritual means alone? In the first place, it may be rethat Christian Scientists make the healing of disease through spiritual means an all-important matter because they know that to heal disease through an understanding of God and of spiritual law, and through spiritual thinking and living, is one of the first and the easiest footsteps in the demonstration of Christianity. Christian Scientists, in fact, recognize that the healing of disease is far easier than the healing of sin. They therefore realize that, if they cannot cast out the human evil called disease through spiritual means, they certainly cannot hope to overcome the more subtle called sin. The ability to heal disease through spiritual means is indeed, one of the first and most important proofs one can give that he really is a Christian; more-over, it is the one proof that humanity will accept as evidence that one does understand God and spiritual law. In the second place Christian Scientists have learned both through reason and through practical demonstration, that dis death. His followers have lapsed back to the world's are not potent enough to deliver humanity from its troubles of to-

It was that I healed the deaf, the blind, the dumb, the lame, the last stages of consumption, pneumonia, etc., and restored the patients in from one to three interviews, that started the inquiry, What is it?" Mary Baker Eddy has set a standard for humanity by which she lived herself and provided that her followers should nition and demonstration of God's tal sense, or through mortal infinite presence and power in every detail of our lives. To accomplish this result, a man not only understand God aright, but he must be pure, honest, selfless always willing to serve humanity seeking his brother's good as well as his own, and above all he must willing to seek first the kingdom of God. Christian Science teaches that God is divine Mind, whom men can know, understand, and demives. Since God is also Life, Truth, and Love, and because He is infinite good, therefore when men understand and demonstrate they are actually bringing into operation the omnipresence and omripotence of the one divine Mind, God, who is Life, Truth, and Love, the fact that only five of these and who is also infinite good. Christian Scientists do not claim to heal the sick, to reform the sinner, nor to deliver mankind from any of its troubles because of some power which they possess in themselves. They claim that it is the privilege of every man or woman, as a child of God, to understand and to express, in some degree, the power and the presence of the divine Mind, God. They also claim that this understanding will deliver from every phase of mortality. In fact, Christian Scientists claim. because man is God's image and likeness, he has the inherent right to reflect and to express God's presence and power; also that because God is divine Mind, men can only accomplish such a result through right thinking or spiritual understanding. When Mary Baker Eddy taught mankind that God is Spirit and is also divine Mind, who is ever available to men through spiritual thinking, she at once lifted the terms Spirit and spiritual law out of that rut of superstition and mysticism into which centuries of creed and dogma had tried to force them, and established the recognition of Emanuel or "God with us."

Prayer The sipiritual understand of God as divine Mind and of man's true estate as God's likeness, combined with the desire and the struggle apply this understanding to the differing phases of mortal experiences, constitutes real prayer. Such prayer heals the sick and the sinner, by delivering them from when thou has shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; nd thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly

Material such as the institution never before has boasted is expected to make the 1925 Santa Ana junior college track team the heaviest point winner among Southern California junior colleges this spring. No less than 10 former interscholastic stars will report to the local squad within the next

Ray Adkinson, the bronzed boss of the high school short-pantied athletes, has agreed to direct the ambitious collegians who already are looking around for some strong competition. Manager Clifford Marston says he will endeavor to obtain dual meets with such colleges as San Diego State, Southern Branch, La Verne, Loyola and possibly a team of the caliber of Po-mona or Occidental.

The Southern California J. C. conference meet, which would attract at least 100 tracksters from all the schools of this rating in the South may be held here, it is understood. No definite place has been selected but local officials, it is known, in tend to make a bid for the classic.

Expect Much of Stars.
Al Clayes and Otto Gardner are expected to be all-around heroes for both men are capable of kicking off good marks in almost any old event—track or field. Clayes was a brilliant star during his prep days at Anaheim. He tosses pound shot better than 40 feet, is a sprinter of ability and can step a fast flock of low hurdles.

Gardner's best race is the low stick affair, in which he took third in the all-Southern interscholastic meet of 1922. He also is a fair sprinter and a good jumper and

Coolidge cognomen has appeared. Now it's "Clever Cal."

Now it's "Clever Cal."

This name is bestowed in recognition of Coolidge's canny move in sending to the senate the nomination of Harlan F. Stone, as associate justice of the supreme court, to succeed Justice McKenna, on the same afternoon that McKenna's recignation, was appropried.

resignation was announced.

Not that Stone's appointment was any stroke of genius. Stone may or may not have been the best possible appointee. So far as the cleverness of the president's quick action was concerned, the identity of the nominee doesn't count.

The big thing is that there wa no delay; that no sooner had Mc-Kenna's resignation been accepted than his successor was named.

If, on the surface, the action seemed a bit hasty, there was, nevertheless, good reason for it. Had the appointment been held back even until the next day there would have been a dozen candi dates in the field, each with a sizeable block of "influences" be

Instead of having a free hand in the selection of the man he wanted for the highest judicial bench Coolidge would have found his udgment biased and his decision befogged by the recommendations and importunities of the ax-grind ing brigade.

Having once left an opening for outside influences to affect the appointment, the longer he waited the greater would be his woe. For the greater the field of aspirants and the wider the circle of backers the more general would be the dis appointment when the appointment

The friends gained from the group indorsing the selection would be far more than offset by the enemies make among the groups whose candidates had lost out. By naming Stone out-of-hand, such a situation was blocked before it started. The naming of a successor to

Stone, as attorney general, does no present a correspondingly difficult For whereas an associate judge ship on the supreme court is a high public office of direct interest to every citizen, a place on the president's cabinet is a matter rather personal with the president himself, and is not so subject to influence by outside pressure.

Coolidge's action in the Stone appointment was reminiscent of the promptness with which Roosevel was wont to make his selections

Unless there were grave reasons for delay, or absolute doubt as to the fitness of the man he had in mind for a given post, T. R. al ways sent in his nominations in And he frankly admitted his chief reason for so doing was to escape the aftermath of enmities and wrecked hopes that follow delayed appointment.

A mediocre appointment, promptly made, he held to be a better appointment, politically, than a prime appointment made after the waters had been muddled by a political

Senator Frank Brandegee, "hard-boiled" old-guard senator, bachelor and recluse, who committed suicide in his home here three months ago, is revealed as having been the owner of a most bizarre collection

At an auction, where Brande gee's personal possessions were put on sale, there were more than 100 paintings, some worth thousands many worth little or nothing.

There were miniatures, jewel chests, quaint jade and ivory carvings, lacquer ware, old brasses.

And a fine etching by Anders Zorn-a beautiful woman, dressed in the style of 1900, about the year Brandegee entered the senate!

It is quite likely that reapportionment can be secured in California only through an initiative measure, and an initiative measure that would suit enough voters to carry it probably cannot be drawn.

This year, led by Los Angeles, Southern California made the matter too much of a Southern California fight. The alignment that all along has seemed to hold some likelihood of success has been a combinaislature, and the 1923 Legislature didn't get very far. Unless the Governor earnestly and sincerely make reapportionment an administration project, which he is not likely to do, reapportionment for the 1925 session is on the rocks to stay.

Some folks would like the President better if he didn't make them uncomfortable by getting up so

NO IMMINENT ICE AGE

Right upon the heels of the coldest Christmas this country has had in about a quarter of a century comes word from the American Association for the Advancement of Science that an early glacial period is unlikely, even though the whole continent shivers.

With such authorities as the United States Weather Bureau and the Royal Ontario Museum of Toronto reassuring us on this point, the East can more cheerfully face whatever the rest of the winter may hurl in the way of low temperature and heavy snowfalls.

Glacial periods, they say, are now accounted for as results of great land upheavals. Glaciers would descend the sides of high mountains. They were protected from the heat of the sun by a sort of blanket of volcanic dust in the air. Heavy snows then remained through the summers and an ice age was settled upon the earth for quite a period.

Such ice eras seem to be warded off now by some Such ice eras seem to be warded off now by some means or other. Perhaps the dust blankets are thinner. Perhaps the earth itself is warming up. It looks like a good way to get around the awkward constitutional requirement until such time as a federal amendment can be adopted bringing the constitutional machinery into harmony with modern facts.

Dr. Harry H. Pomona Will Raise Salaries

hold some likelihood of success has been a combination of "cow counties" with northern delegations who were willing to let a compromise go through that would fail to give Los Angeles the lion's share. When the lines were laid by Los Angeles for a solid Southern California front the possibility of this alignment became remote.

Reapportionment should have been made, under the law, in 1921. The Legislature that met that year got further with the project than did the 1923 Legislature, and the 1923 Legislature didn't get very far.

Riverside Press.

Pomona is operating under a city charter which permits the city council to fix the salaries of municipal employes, including the mayor. The council has decided on a new schedule of salaries which will go into effect at the end of the terms of the present incumbents. Riversiders will be interested in the old and new schedule of salaries which is given below. The fact should be borne in mind that Pomona is a city with probably 10,000 less population than Riverside, but the new salary schedule is much higher than that in force here for the corresponding officers. - Riverside Press. -
